For further information on these rights, including the circumstances in which they apply, please contact us or see the Guidance from the UK Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) on individuals' rights under the General Data Protection Regulation.

Whom we might share your personal information with

We may need to provide your personal data to third parties for the following purposes:-

- If it is necessary for the completion of the work that you have asked us to carry out, eg we may instruct a Barrister or provide your information to the Land Registry
- To other parties where it is necessary for the administration of our business, eg to a costs draftsman in the case of Legal Aid or Personal Injury work, or to companies to whom we outsource administrative and support tasks
- Where we need to do so to comply with our regulatory and legal obligations
- For prevention of fraud and money laundering

Where appropriate, all contractors who are users of personal information supplied by Risdon Solicitors will be required to confirm that they will abide by the requirements of the Data Protection Legislation with regard to information supplied to them by us.

Sharing your information with fraud prevention agencies

To comply with the law and for our own legitimate interest to enable us to assess and manage risk, we can share details about your financial situation and financial history, and the financial situation and history of individuals connected to your business with fraud prevention agencies.

We will carry out checks with fraud prevention agencies for the purposes of preventing fraud and money laundering, and to verify your identity and the identity of individuals connected to your business before we provide services to you. These checks require us and these agencies to process information about you and individuals connected to your business.

The information you provide or which we have collected from you, or on your behalf, including from individuals connected to your business or received from third parties, will be used to carry out these checks in order to prevent fraud and money laundering, and to verify your identity and the identity of individuals connected to your business. This includes information such as name, address, date of birth, contact details, financial information and employment details.

We and fraud prevention agencies may also enable law enforcement agencies to access and use information about you and individuals connected to your business to detect, investigate, and prevent crime.

We process this information on the basis that we have a legitimate interest in preventing fraud and money laundering and to verify your identity and the identity of individuals connected to your business. This enables us to protect our business and to comply with laws that apply to us.

Fraud prevention agencies can hold information for different periods of time. If they are concerned about a possible fraud or money laundering risk this information and data can be held by them for up to six years.

How long will we keep your personal information?

We will keep your personal information for a minimum of 6 years after the end of your case.

This period may be longer depending upon the type of matter. The person responsible for your case will inform you of the relevant retention period for your matter.

We may retain this data for one of these reasons:-

- To respond to any questions or complaints
- To show that we treated you fairly
- To maintain records according to rules that apply to us
- To comply with our regulatory obligations to act in your interests
- To protect our own legitimate interests

We will retain your name, address, date of birth, email and other contact details indefinitely. This is because we need this information to carry out conflict of interest checks in compliance with our regulatory obligations. We will not use this information to contact you unless you have specifically given us authorisation to do so, or unless we have a legal obligation.

We will always make sure that your privacy is protected and only use your personal data for one of the purposes listed above.

Keeping your personal data secure

We have appropriate security measures to prevent personal data from being accidentally lost, or used or accessed unlawfully. We limit access to your personal data to those who have a genuine business need to access it. Those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.
